The Academy for Excellence in Local Governance will be offering, "Managing the Strategic Cybersecurity Challenge" at LGIT on January 31, 2025. A brief class description is below:

This course explores the key issues facing municipal and county employees attempting to manage the problem of cybersecurity including the technical foundations underpinning modern public services, the threat landscape, and the strategic consequences and risks facing leaders. The course is designed for county and municipal government leaders with little to no background in information technology and will provide the principles to understand the current debates shaping a rapidly evolving security landscape. The instructor will be Associate Research Professor Charlie Harry from the School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland.

Sponsored by: the MD Municipal League, the MD Assoc. of Counties, the University of MD, and the Local Government Insurance Trust.
